September 1982

Gifts and Contributions: FY 1982

This issue of the LYCOMING COLLEGE REPORT is devoted primarily to the report of gifts and contributions received by Lycoming from July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982. A summary of total contributions received from all sources is shown on this page.

Recognition of the alumni, parents, friends, groups, business organizations, faculty, staff, and trustees who have made gifts to Lycoming is provided on subsequent pages.

It should be noted that this year's report is based on a fiscal year. Last year's report covered an 18-month period as a result of changing from a calendar to fiscal-year basis.

Alumni among new faculty, staff

Among the 12 new faculty and staff members at Lycoming this year are three alumni.

Richard E. Wienecke, 66, Jeffrey L. Richards, 74, and Christine Dinsmore Barth, 80, have returned to Lycoming respectively as an assistant professor of accounting, controller and assistant treasurer, and an admissions counselor.

Wienecke taught previously at Long Island University and Genesee College. He has held accounting positions with the Fairchild Republic Company of Farmingdale, N.Y., the All Island Delivery Service of West Babylon, N.Y., and Touche-Ross and Company of Melville, N.Y. The CIA is a Ph.D. candidate at Fordham University. In addition to his B.A. from Lycoming, he holds an M.B.A. from C. W. Post College of Long Island University and an M.S. in business administration from Bucknell University.

Richards has been the business manager for the Lewisburg Area School District. He also has worked as assistant business manager and purchasing agent for the Jersey Shore Area School District and as an accountant and office manager for Rosco, N. Alexander, Inc., of Williamsport. His B.A. is in accounting.

Barth was employed previously as a marketing service representative for Topp Copy Products, Inc., of Williamsport, as office manager for Temp Force, Inc., of Williamsport, and as an employment counselor for Snelling and Snelling, Inc., of Williamsport. Her B.A. is in business administration and economics. She is married to Steven Barth, 78.

Other new faculty members named are in the foreign languages: English, nursing, education, and theatre departments.

Dr. Richard J. Barker is a new assistant professor of Spanish. He comes to Lycoming from the University of Oregon, where he taught and earned a Ph.D. Barker also has taught at the University of Iowa, the University of Seville in Spain, and the Centro Norteamericano in Seville, and has worked as an interpreter in Eugene, Ore. In addition to his Ph.D., he holds a B.A. in Spanish from Hamilton College and an M.A. in Spanish from Iowa State University. The English department's newest faculty member is Dr. Carol Moses. The assistant professor comes from the University of Kansas, where she was in a post-doctoral program in composition. Moses holds a B.A. in English from Adelphi University, an M.A. in English from the Pennsylvania State University, and a Ph.D. in English from SUNY at Binghamton. She has taught at Kansas State University of Akron, the College of Wooster, Kansas State University, and SUNY—Binghamton.

President's corner

In Germany, the thesis advisor for a doctoral candidate is often affectionately called Doktorvater. Knowing how indebted one can be to a helpful advisor, we can understand why he should be called doctor-father.

Every student needs a Doktorvater. I say that because students need helpful role models. Any student who has become excited about serious study can tell you of at least one incident when a teacher opened his eyes. Literally transforming something which previously had seemed dull into something exciting. Socrates described such successful teachers as midwives, as those who assist with the birth of academic life. We all crave such teachers. They stimulate curiosity, broaden horizons, banish our fear of change and our aversion to new ideas. They teach us how to solve problems and most important of all, they help us to understand how things fit together and to see what gives ultimate meaning to life.

Have you ever known a student who seemed bright enough but just couldn't get excited about anything? The boredom that weighs so heavily upon such students is truly incomprehensible to others in the same classroom who are caught up by the fascination of discovery or by the pride that comes with achievement. The master teacher, however, is equal to the challenge of boredom. By asking the right question or saying the right word, he drives the boredom away by launching an exciting expedition to explore the unknown.

What is the magic employed by the master teacher to awaken this new academic life? The title Doktorvater provides a clue. Almost without exception it is a word of encouragement, an expression of genuine interest in the student himself coming unexpectedly from someone we were convinced was beyond us. It is a timely word from someone commanding our respect, someone worthy of homage, and therefore someone whose encouragement comes as an exhilarating surprise—so different from the cheap praise of mediocre performance.

To be commended for mediocrity just because we feel depressed or need encouragement is like being sprayed with exhalating—like strong horsehairish, it can be painfully demanding, even bringing tears to the eyes.

I will be forever grateful to the young student teacher assigned to the seventh-grade class my older son attended. It is ironic that the best teacher in that classroom had been sent there to learn how to teach! Instinctively he seemed to know how to encourage his students to do their best. He awakened pride and nourished self-esteem. He taught his students to expect something truly significant of themselves.

In Germany there is another academic custom I appreciate. Usually on the 60th birthday anniversary of an eminent scholar, colleagues and disciples of the scholar publish jointly a Festschrift or monograph to celebrate the occasion. After so many years of scholarly contribution the work of the generations, it is an anniversary worth celebrating. As you might guess, the celebrations which follow the 70th birthday are even more elaborate.

What better way to celebrate the beginning of a new academic year than to acknowledge how indebted we are to the master teachers who introduced us to the joy of learning. August 15, 1982, was the 80th birthday anniversary of the greatest teacher I ever had. He did all the things I have described and more. Were I a publisher I would certainly want to publish a Festschrift for his 80th birthday. I'm sure he remembers his own teachers with gratitude and will reminisce about those magic moments when their words brought new light flooding into his mind. How many such flashes of enlightenment he will recall sharing with me during my long internship. I cannot say. But I recall dozens which turned the course of my life. Gratitude is a weak word to describe their significance.

This isn't a Festschrift in the traditional sense, but these words are meant to celebrate the occasion. Happy birthday Dad!

Frederick S. Blum

Sports

Football

Seeking to regain Lyncoming's position atop the Middle Atlantic Conference Northern Division, coach Frank Girardi sent out his 11th squad against Lock Haven State on Sept. 11 in the season opener. Looking for an improved and consistent offensive attack and the usual solid defense

Girardi got the latter and some of the former despite a tough 14-7 loss to the Division II Bald Eagles at Lock Haven.

With 37 returning lettermen, 24 on offense and 13 on defense, consistency should be an attainable goal for Girardi, who wants to improve on 1981's 5-4-1 record. Girardi feels he also must build depth in the back-up units - keeping key people injury-free will be a determining factor in our season's outcome, Girardi said.

The majority of the offensive unit is solid and experienced. Senior tailback Mike Santolero (Berwyn) and Thatcher Borman (Marysville) lead Lyncoming's ground game with senior fullback Andy Kowalick (Allentown) adding inside punch to the running attack. Also returning to the backfield are two-time All-MAC wide receiver Jeff Wert (Stroudsburg) and juniors Bill Simonovich (Sayre) and John Betz (Havertown). The offensive line should provide excellent coverage for the passing and running attacks. Returning to duty are junior John Whalen (Paoli), an All-MAC guard, seniors Joe Bouhs (Norristown) at tackle and Tim Morris (Philadelphia) at guard, and tackle Kevin Salt (Wilkes-Barre) and center Steve Hughes (Radnor), both sophomores.

The tough Warrior defense will be anchored by returning senior tackle Doug Schonewill (Tyronne), junior tackle Wade Ritter (Lock Haven), and senior Neil Heimsoth (Allentown) at middle guard. Sophomore Mike Boures (Norristown) is challenging the returning tackles for a starting position.

Heading the linebacker positions are senior Mark Zickler (Warwick, NY) who started last year, and juniors Jim Barone (Williamsport) and Craig Bender (Ocean, NJ). The defensive secondary is led by senior Dave Nolan (Norristown) and juniors Joe Shannon (Levittown), an All-MAC selection, and George Connagham (Harrisburg). Junior Lance Spiller (Monticelloville), All-MAC in 1980 returns to handle the place-kicking duties, while punting responsibilities again will fall to Doug Schonewill, who was second in the MAC in punting in 1981.

Lyncoming opened its MAC season on Sept. 18 at home against improving Susquehanna, with a clash against Wilkes scheduled for Sept. 25.

Challenging the Warriors for MAC laurels will be Juniata and Delaware Valley, the 1981 co-champions, with Albright expected to be much improved.

Soccer

With a successful recruiting year behind him, soccer coach Scott McNeill is looking forward to a more offensive-minded team in 1982. A number of talented freshmen players have come in to help solidify an already youthful team.

The entire starting defense is returning from last year's last-closing 5-0-1 record, with the exception of Bob Orizio, junior fullback's left Davis (Downingtown), Greg Ambrose (Florham Park, NJ) and co-captain Jim Dodge (Closter, NJ) return with a great deal of experience. Sophomore goalie Ken Bozzi (Florham Park, NJ) is being challenged for his starting berth by two highly-rated high school standouts, John O'Brien (Belle Mead, NJ) and Mike Hebler (Kinnelon, NJ).

The young offense should be greatly improved with the addition of Ron Kuter (Glenolden) and Bob Condie (Murray Hill, NJ). With the return of All-MAC sophomore forward Tom McCartney (Basking Ridge, NJ), and sophomores Dennis Yonkin (Dushore) and John Ernst (Doylstown), McNeill expects a marked improvement in goal-scoring output.

In mid-field, the center spot will be filled by All-MAC sophomore Greg Helback (Nanuet, NY) with junior Remberto Eguenides (Closter, NJ) and senior co-captain Tim Horn (Williamsport) playing key roles. A number of incoming freshmen also will see playing time in the mid-field.

With nationally-ranked powers like Scranton, Elizabethtown, Bloomsburg State, and Dickinson as opponents, the Warrior schedule is formidable. It will put McNeill's philosophy of soccer—speed, communication, conditioning, and concentration—to the test.

The booters opened at home against Susquehanna on Sept. 18. Other September shootouts are Dickinson, Juniata, and Kings.

Women's Tennis

Now, after winning the Middle Atlantic Conference Northern Division championship last year, the girls know what they can do and are pulling together even more, coach Deb Holmes said of her 1982 tennis squad.

After a great season in 1981, 4-0 in league play and 6-4 overall, Holmes' immediate goal is to win the Northern division title again so Lyncoming has another chance at the overall MAC tennis title.

Junior Deanna Cappel (Wappingers Falls, NY) and senior Kim Paul (Cambridge, MD), co-captains, lead the team, playing No. 1 and No. 2 singles and No. 1 doubles.

"Because of them, the program has turned around," Holmes said, explaining that "that's why we elected them co-captains when we usually have just one captain."

Holmes was unsure of the rest of the positions on the team as it prepared for its season opener on Sept. 18 against Upsala. Most of the singles and doubles positions were still up in the air. Senior Lon Compton (Williamsport), sophomore Kristin Kuster (Norristown), and junior Anne McGeorge (Downingtown) were vying for the singles positions against several freshmen, including Christine Vreeland (Kinnelon, NJ) and Mary Shaul (Chambersburg).

Other September matches include home contests with Mansfield State, Marywood, and Scranton, and an away tussle with Baptist Bible.

Field Hockey

Trying to channel individual talent into a well-organized team effort was the challenge facing Lyncoming field hockey coach Carol Watson entering her first season.

Watson's job is being made a little easier by the return of six senior and two junior letterwinners from last year's injury-plagued 1-9-1 record, including senior co-captain and all-eyerything goalie Robin Wert (Stroudsburg).

Wert, a four-year starter, was named again last year to the first team at the Pennsylvania all-star selection tournament and first team at a Mid-East regional selection tourney. She also played again in the national field hockey tournament in Florida. With her back in the net, the offense shouldn't have to score too many goals to turn a losing season into a winner.

Other returning starters are juniors Pam Kraft (Westfield, NJ) and co-captain Kathy Wert (Stroudsburg), and sophomores Janet Baran (Orland), Jean Inken (Bedminster, NJ), and Beth Harvey (Norristown). Freshman Kelley Hughes (Stillwater) should break into the starting team.

For 1982, Watson said she will stress teamwork and cohesion. She does not want the squad to rely on just one or two stars.

The Warriors opened their season on Sept. 20 at home against Watson's alma mater, Mansfield State. The squad is spending all of September at home playing Marywood, Susquehanna, and Scranton at College Field.
